Moore NA Community Groups are designed to provide a forum for collaboration amongst members serving specific industries or service niches. These groups are centrally-facilitated by our executive team and enhanced by a strong community.

This support network grants members access to the expertise and best practices of the group, and a platform to share knowledge and discuss emerging issues and industry trends.

If you or someone from your firm would like to be involved in one of the Community Groups, please contact Laura Metz at the Moore NA Executive Office at lmetz@moore-na.com.

The Moore NA Community Groups start with an idea and a champion. Leaders from our member firms are selected to guide discussions on key growth areas, encourage sharing of best practices and set agendas surrounding thought provoking topics.

Leadership provided by eleven different North American firms

The Community Groups set goals and meet with purpose.

Each group develops a unique format, detailing what they want to accomplish (i.e. topics they want to address), how they plan to do so (i.e. internal/external speakers), and the frequency of their meetings.

100% participation from US and Canadian firms in North American Community Groups

In-person meetings provide opportunities to deepen connections.

Conferences and meetings, hosted by member firms and supported by Moore NA, bring value to the group dynamic and allow for in-depth conversations that stretch beyond monthly calls.

Six different face-to-face meeting opportunities provided in 2019, including roundtable discussions and conferences

Global connections expand the reach of the Moore NA Community Groups.

The Moore Global Collaboration Group Hub is the focal point for collaborations across sectors, services, and key initiatives to drive growth in the network through opportunities.

18 global collaboration groups currently available including Energy Mining & Renewables, Cyber & Privacy, and Global Tax

The Moore NA Executive Office supplements group efforts.

The Moore NA team provides back office support and assistance with scheduling calls, creating and disseminating surveys, making inter-association connections and ensuring progress is possible.
